

Sarah Babb

Sarah is a partner of Reos Partners. She is currently managing the dissemination of the Dinokeng Scenarios exercise of which she has been a part of the Secretariat since August 2008. (www.dinokengscenarios.co.za).

Sarah has been a programme manager, designer and facilitator in many sector-based and corporate development projects in South Africa for the past 17 years. Her work has spanned the financial services sector, banking, food and beverage, motor retail, telecommunications, the public sector and manufacturing. One such project was designing and managing a national development project across the microfinance sector, with a budget of R78m, over a period of three years reaching over 10,000 consumers, over 1,000 microlenders and building skills across 100's of intermediaries. Other projects have involved consulting on the establishment of learning academies, turn-around learning and development strategies and building leadership capacity. She has largely worked through a company she founded in 1998.

Sarah has a MBA (cum laude, GIBS 2003-4), PDM (Wits Business School, with distinction), BA (Wits) and is currently completing her Doctorate (DBA, at GIBS). Sarah has presented at national conferences since 1995 and has published widely in local journals, including co-publishing a book Perspectives in Learnerships: South African Case Studies.
